

BROCHURES FOR CLERGY

Action Item: To develop a brochure for clergy that explains different groups' attitudes towards death and dying

Objective: To make it easier for clergy to engage in a discussion about advance care planning with patients of different faiths

If the action were successful, would it likely affect a quantitative measure of Maryland's progress toward quality care at the end of life?

Educational efforts can be expected to increase the rate of advance care planning among various religious groups

Does the item require financial or other outside assistance to be accomplished?

What resources and support systems currently exist to implement this action item?

What additional resources and support systems would be needed to implement this action item?

How long would it take to accomplish the item?

What steps should the Council take in the next three months to move forward on this item? In the next six months?

Which Council members and interested members of the public will volunteer to work on this item?

ANNUAL EVENT TO EDUCATE CLERGY

Action Item: To plan an annual event that educates clergy about advance care planning and the role of the faith community

Objective: To bring members of the faith community together to share best practices and learn about ways to effectively promote advance care planning in their communities

If the action were successful, would it likely affect a quantitative measure of Maryland’s progress toward quality care at the end of life?

Educational efforts can be expected to increase the rate of advance care planning among various religious groups

Does the item require financial or other outside assistance to be accomplished?

What resources and support systems currently exist to implement this action item?

What additional resources and support systems would be needed to implement this action item?

How long would it take to accomplish the item?

What steps should the Council take in the next three months to move forward on this item? In the next six months?

Which Council members and interested members of the public will volunteer to work on this item?
