Re: Notice of Data Event

Dear Sir or Madam:

We represent City Harvest, Inc. ("City Harvest") located at 6 East 32nd Street, 5th Floor, New York, NY 10016, and are writing to notify your office of an incident that may affect the security of certain personal information relating to eighty (80) Maryland residents. The investigation into this matter is ongoing, and this notice may be supplemented with any new significant facts learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, City Harvest does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maryland law, the applicability of the Maryland data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On January 20, 2022, City Harvest discovered suspicious activity on its systems. In response, City Harvest immediately launched an investigation and worked with outside forensic specialists to secure its systems and investigate the nature and scope of the incident. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor accessed certain systems on City Harvest's network and acquired certain files stored on those systems between January 19, 2022, and January 29, 2022. City Harvest then undertook an extensive review of the acquired files and folders, with the assistance of an outside vendor, to identify any sensitive information stored therein and to whom it relates. This investigation is currently ongoing. However, on June 10, 2022, City Harvest determined information related to eighty (80) Maryland residents was potentially accessed.

The information that may have been impacted by this event varies per person, and includes name, Social Security number, and financial account information.

Notice to Maryland Residents

On July 8, 2022, City Harvest provided written notice of this incident to eighty (80) Maryland residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, City Harvest moved quickly to investigate and respond to the incident, assess the security of its systems, and identify potentially affected individuals. Further, City Harvest notified the FBI regarding the event. City Harvest is also working to implement additional safeguards, as well as reviewing and strengthening its existing policies, procedures, and systems related to cyber security. City Harvest is providing access to credit monitoring services for twenty-four (24) months, through IDX to individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident, at no cost to these individuals.

Additionally, City Harvest is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud. City Harvest is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one's credit file, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you may need to provide the following information, depending on whether the request is made online, by phone, or by mail:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.);
7. Social Security card, pay stub, or W2;
8. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
