Re: Notice of a Security Incident

Dear Attorney General Brown,

Pursuant to Md. Code Ann. Comm. Law 14-3504, I am writing to let you know that our client, O'Neal Industries, Inc. ("ONI" or "Company"), experienced a security incident that involved files containing the personally identifiable information ("PII") of Maryland residents. ONI's investigation remains ongoing and, therefore, this notice may be supplemented where and as needed.¹

In December of 2022, law enforcement informed ONI that it had uncovered a data file relating to the Company. ONI immediately launched an investigation with the help of external cybersecurity experts. In due course, ONI came to learn that an unknown actor had gained unauthorized access to portions of its computer network in November of 2022 using a highly sophisticated type of malware that evaded the detection of the Company's security tools. Some of these systems contained personnel information relating to the Company's workforce, including social security numbers. A representative example of the notice being furnished to affected individuals is attached as Exhibit A, which includes a complimentary enrollment in credit monitoring and identity theft protection services.

ONI has been working with external cybersecurity experts to implement additional safeguards to strengthen its computer network, including the use of additional authentication requirements, detection software, and monitoring tools. Other remediation measures included password resets (domain, administrator and user), password rotations, server hardening, and security configuration updates.

Please do not hesitate to let me know if you have any questions regarding this notice.

Very truly yours,

J.T. Malatesta

¹ More specifically, the ongoing file review has identified PII belonging to seven (7) Maryland residents. This number may increase after the Company completes its review.

Re: Notice of Security Incident

Dear Sample A. Sample:

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to let you know about a security incident that O'Neal Industries has experienced that resulted in unauthorized access to some of our computer systems. Unfortunately, one of those systems contained our HR files that store social security numbers and other personal information we maintain on file for our employees and their beneficiaries or dependents.

To our knowledge, we are not aware of any actual or attempted misuse of personal information as a result of this incident. However, as a precautionary measure, you have the opportunity to enroll in an identity protection solution through Experian at no cost to you. This service will provide twelve (12) months of credit and identity protection services.

Additional information about the incident, our ongoing response, and the resources that are available to help protect your information can be found below.

What Happened? Through our investigation, we have learned that computer systems within our network were accessed in November 2022 using a highly sophisticated type of malware that evaded detection by our anti-virus software. Fortunately, none of the platforms or companies that administer our employee benefits were impacted, and there should be no disruption to benefits.

What Are We Doing? We have hired external cybersecurity experts to investigate what happened, to strengthen our computer network, and to monitor the "dark web" for information that affects us. These efforts are all ongoing. And we are reaching out to you so that you are aware of what happened.

What Information Was Involved? Your personal information provided to Human Resources for benefits purposes, including name, date of birth, and social security number.

What You Can Do? We are providing an Identity Protection Reference Guide that includes information on general steps you can take to monitor and protect your personal information. You will also find information enclosed on how to enroll in the credit and identity protection services we are offering you, free of charge, if you are interested in these services.

For More Information. If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to our dedicated support team at (833) 704-9386, Monday through Friday 8 am – 10 pm CST, Saturday and Sunday 10 am – 7 pm CST (excluding major U.S. holidays).

Sincerely,

Ruffner Page
President & Chief Operating Officer
O'Neal Industries

IDENTITY PROTECTION REFERENCE GUIDE

1. Review your Credit Reports. We recommend that you monitor your credit reports for any activity you do not recognize. Under federal law, you are entitled every 12 months to one free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting companies. To order your free annual credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free (877) 322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC") website at www.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. The three credit bureaus provide free annual credit reports only through the website, toll-free number or request form.

If you see anything in your credit report that you do not understand, call the credit bureau at the telephone number on the report. You should notify the credit bureaus of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate credit bureau by telephone and in writing.

2. Place Fraud Alerts. You can place a fraud alert at one of the three major credit bureaus by phone and also via Experian's or Equifax's website. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. Please note that placing a fraud alert may delay you when seeking to obtain credit. You can learn more about fraud alerts by contacting the credit bureaus or by visiting their websites:

TransUnion

TransUnion Fraud Alert, P.O. Box 2000,

TransUnion Credit Freeze, P.O. Box 160,
Woodlyn, PA 19094

It is only necessary to contact one of these bureaus and use only one of these methods. As soon as one of the three bureaus confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place alerts on their records as well. You should receive confirmation letters in the mail and will then be able to order all three credit reports, free of charge, for your review.

3. Place Security Freezes. By placing a security freeze, someone who fraudulently acquires your personally identifying information will not be able to use that information to open new accounts or borrow money in your name. Federal and state laws prohibit charges for placing, temporarily lifting, or removing a security freeze. Keep in mind that when you place the freeze, you will not be able to borrow money, obtain instant credit, or get a new credit card until you temporarily lift or permanently remove the freeze.

To place a security freeze, you must contact each of the three national credit reporting bureaus listed above and provide the following information: (1) your full name; (2) your social security number; (3) date of birth; (4) the addresses where you have lived over the past two years; (5) proof of current address, such as a utility bill or telephone bill; (6) a copy of a government issued identification card; and (7) if you are the victim of identity theft, include the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency. If the request to place a security freeze is made by toll-free telephone or secure electronic means, the credit bureaus have one business day after receiving your request to place the security freeze on your credit report. If the request is made by mail, the credit bureaus have three business days to place the security freeze on your credit report after receiving your request. The credit bureaus must send confirmation to you within five business days and provide you with information concerning the process by which you may remove or lift the security freeze.

4. Monitor Your Account Statements. We encourage you to carefully monitor your financial account statements for fraudulent activity and report anything suspicious to the respective institution or provider.

5. You can also further educate yourself regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, security freezes, and the steps you can take to protect yourself, by contacting the consumer reporting agencies, your state Attorney General, or the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).
