Pursuant to Maryland's Personal Information Protection Act, Md. Code Ann. Comm. Law 14-3504 ("PIPA"), I am writing to notify you on behalf of our client, Kline & Specter, P.C. ("Kline & Specter"), of a data exposure incident that may affect one (1) Maryland resident.

NATURE OF THE BREACH

Re: Notice of Data Incident

What happened?

Kline & Specter, P.C. (“we” or “our”) is writing to provide you formal notice of a data incident that occurred on March 13, 2023 (the “Incident”). The Incident was a ransomware attack in which some personal data may have been copied. We discovered the Incident on March 13, 2023 and have been working to reverse the damage to our computer systems.

What information was involved?

The attackers both disabled portions of our network and took data that may include your personal information related to your employment, including your Social Security number.

What are we doing?

We are continuing to monitor and investigate the situation carefully. As of the date of this letter, we have no evidence that this information has been used in any way, including for identity theft.

Although the risk of data breaches cannot be eliminated altogether, we are undertaking a top-down review to determine what more we can reasonably do to minimize risk moving forward.

We are offering you twenty-four (24) months of identity theft protection with the credit monitoring company Kroll, at our cost. If you sign up, Kroll will provide you with identity theft detection and assist in the resolution of the same should it occur. To activate your membership and start monitoring your personal information please email Eric Bowen at eric.bowen@klinespecter.com who will provide you with instructions and a personal code to get started.

To guard against tax fraud, we have also notified IRS of the Incident and that your information may have been compromised.

What can you do?

We encourage you to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud or misuse, from any source, by reviewing and monitoring your account statements and credit reports, as detailed below. If you notice suspicious activity in your financial records, you should report it immediately to your financial institution or issuing bank.

You can also place a credit freeze with credit reporting companies. You can do so by contacting each of the credit agencies listed below. A credit freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer’s credit report without written authorization. However, please be aware that placing a credit freeze may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, home mortgages, auto loans, employment, housing or other services. The credit reporting agencies may also charge a fee to place a freeze, temporarily lift a freeze that has been placed, or permanently remove it.

You may also place a fraud alert on your credit report. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures like contacting you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For example, when a creditor receives a request to change one of your existing accounts, before making the change that creditor may call you to verify that you requested a change to your existing account. You can place a fraud alert with one of the credit agencies listed below and that agency will alert the other two agencies.

You can also contact the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) and your state’s attorney general to obtain information about how to prevent identity theft. You may also call your local sheriff’s office and file a police report of identity theft, keeping a copy of the police report.

You may contact the FTC at Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580, or at 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), or by visiting www.consumer.ftc.gov

You may also obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, whether or not you suspect any unauthorized activity on your account. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report, once every 12 months from each of the agencies, by contacting any one of the following national consumer reporting agencies:

Experian: www.experian.com or 1-888-397-3742 or P.O. Box 4500, Allen, TX 75013

TransUnion: www.transunion.com or 1-800-680-7289 or TransUnion LLC, P.O. Box 1000, Chester, PA 19016

Equifax: www.equifax.com or 1-800-525-6285 or Equifax Information Services LLC, P.O. Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374-0241

You can also order a free credit report by visiting www.annualcreditreport.com, by calling toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or by mailing a completed Annual Credit Report Request Form (available at <https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/pdf-0093-annual-report-request-form.pdf>) to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281.

For more information: You may contact J. Eric Bowen via email at eric.bowen@klinespecter.com.

On behalf of Kline & Specter, P.C., we are sorry for any inconvenience this incident might have caused and promise that we are working diligently to maintain protection of your data. We would also like to thank each and every one of you who have worked so hard to transition from Time Matters and the G: Drive to Filevine. I know it has been difficult at times, but that transition has allowed us to continue to function.

Sincerely,

J. Eric Bowen

Re: Notice of Data Incident

Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>:

What happened?

Kline & Specter, P.C. (“we” or “our”) is writing to provide you formal notice of a data incident that occurred on March 13, 2023 (the “Incident”). The Incident was a ransomware attack in which some personal data may have been copied. We discovered the Incident on March 13, 2023 and have been diligently working to determine exactly what was copied and to reverse the damage to our computer systems. After thorough investigation, we have determined as of April 27, 2023, that while we have no affirmative information that any of your data has been copied, we cannot conclusively determine that none was copied; therefore, we are acting out of an abundance of caution to notify you that your identifying information may have been copied. Fortunately, our forensic examination gives us no reason to suspect that any information from any legal case was copied.

What information was involved?

The attackers both disabled portions of our network and took data that may include your personal identification information, including your name, Social Security number, and contact ID. Based on our investigation, we do not have any reason to suspect that information from any legal case was exfiltrated.

What are we doing?

We are continuing to monitor and investigate the situation carefully. As of the date of this letter, we have no evidence that this information has been used in any way, including for identity theft.

Although the risk of data breaches cannot be eliminated altogether, we are undertaking a top-down review to determine what more we can reasonably do to minimize risk moving forward.

What can you do?

We encourage you to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud or misuse, from any source, by reviewing and monitoring your account statements and credit reports, as detailed below. If you notice suspicious activity in your financial records, you should report it immediately to your financial institution or issuing bank.

You can also place a credit freeze with credit reporting companies. You can do so by contacting each of the credit agencies listed below. A credit freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer’s credit report without written authorization. However, please be aware that placing a credit freeze may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, home mortgages, auto loans, employment, housing or other services. The credit reporting agencies may also charge a fee to place a freeze, temporarily lift a freeze that has been placed, or permanently remove it.

You may also place a fraud alert on your credit report. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures like contacting you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For example, when a creditor receives a request to change one of your existing accounts, before making the change that creditor may call you to verify that you requested a change to your existing account. You can place a fraud alert with one of the credit agencies listed below and that agency will alert the other two agencies.

You can also contact the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") and your state's attorney general to obtain information about how to prevent identity theft. You may also call your local sheriff's office and file a police report of identity theft, keeping a copy of the police report.
