Dear Attorney General:

We write to inform you that Honeywell International Inc. (“Honeywell”), 855 South Mint St., Charlotte, NC 28202, in an abundance of caution, will be sending notices to Maryland residents advising them of a data breach incident.

On June 3, 2023, Honeywell became aware that it was one of the many companies impacted by the zero-day vulnerability affecting Progress Software Corporation’s MOVEit Transfer application. The MOVEit application was used by Honeywell, as well as many other companies, for secure file transfers. Upon learning about the vulnerability from Progress Software Corporation, Honeywell promptly blocked all access to MOVEit’s services, applied the software patch that Progress Software provided, initiated an investigation using its internal cybersecurity experts, and notified law enforcement.

Based on our investigation, the incident was isolated to MOVEit’s services and did not otherwise affect Honeywell’s systems. On June 8, 2023, Honeywell learned that personal information of current or former employees and applicants, including name, Social Security Number, and date of birth, may have been accessed by the malicious party. Following a detailed review of the affected files, Honeywell determined that two Maryland residents may have been affected by the incident.

Our security team took prompt steps to address this incident, including contacting law enforcement, blocking the unauthorized access, and remediating the vulnerability in the third-party tool. This notice has not been delayed because of a law enforcement investigation.

For the convenience of Maryland residents and in an abundance of caution, Honeywell has arranged to make credit monitoring and identity protection services available to them at no cost for two years.

The formal notice will be sent to the residents that may have been affected via U.S. Mail on June 16, 2023. A copy of the consumer notice template is attached. Please contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

William E. Ridgway

Additional Information About Security Freezes. You also have a right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report at no charge, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. In addition, a security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.
