Re: Notice of data exposure

Dear [REDACTED]

We are writing to notify you of an incident that involves some of your personal information. We want to assure you that we take this matter very seriously, as protecting the privacy and security of your information is extremely important to us.

As described in more detail below, we would like to let you know what happened, how we have responded to protect your information against a risk of identity theft or fraud and important steps you can take to further protect it.

Specifically, we are offering you two years of complimentary credit monitoring/identity theft protection and encourage you to sign up for it as soon as practicable, as explained in the section entitled "Activate your monitoring services" below.

We attempted to contact you on 03/06/2025 about this incident. We encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing your financial account transactions and statements for unauthorized transactions and immediately notifying your relevant financial provider if you detect any. We also recommend that you implement the steps listed in the section entitled "Monitor your accounts below" and obtain free credit reports from consumer reporting agencies.

What happened

An unauthorized individual accessed your account on 03/05/2025. This unauthorized person used information obtained from a source other than TIAA to initiate a reset of your online access account credentials.

What information was involved

Our investigation of the incident reveals that the unauthorized person viewed your name, user ID, account number, and financial account balance while in your account.

What we are doing

As soon as we became aware of an issue relating to your account, we promptly investigated it, confirmed that your personal information was involved, and reached out to you. We also checked your accounts and either saw no indication of unauthorized activity or reversed it.

Additionally, we have also placed additional authentication monitoring to your TIAA account.

We are offering you complimentary access to Experian IdentityWorksSM for 24 months. Among other features, this service monitors the use of your personal information in new financial accounts and alerts you to determine whether they were opened without your authorization. Please sign up for this offer using the instructions in the section below entitled “Activate your monitoring services.”

What you can do

In addition to signing up for our complimentary offer of credit monitoring, we strongly urge you to do the following:

- ☐ Review each of your online accounts and create strong and unique passwords for each.
 - “Strong” passwords consist of a random combination of letters and numbers and, where permitted, symbols.
 - Unique passwords for each online account prevent unauthorized persons to access your other online accounts after compromising just one.
- ☐ Implement a unique password at TIAA’s National Contact Center to access your TIAA account by phone (again, avoid re-using your online login password).
- ☐ Download the TIAA mobile app on your mobile device to conduct your TIAA financial transactions.
- ☐ Enable the use of a one-time passcode on each of your online accounts.
- ☐ Stay alert for online scams by assessing suspicious emails or websites,
- ☐ Regularly check your online accounts for unauthorized transactions and dispute them immediately.
- ☐ Close any online accounts that you no longer use.
- ☐ Contact the credit reporting bureaus (Experian, Equifax, TransUnion) if you know of or suspect any unauthorized accounts or fraudulent transactions and:
 - Dispute them immediately;
 - Request that the credit reporting agency remove the fraudulent transaction from your credit report; and
 - Contact your state Attorney General, police, or the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) .
- ☐ Place a credit freeze or credit fraud alert to prevent unauthorized accounts being opened in your name.

Contact details are provided in the Monitor your accounts and Additional information sections below.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

- Full name, with middle initial and any suffixes;
- Social Security number;
- Date of birth (month, day, and year);
- Current address and previous addresses for the past five (5) years;
- Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
- Legible photocopy of government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, military identification, etc.);
- If you are a victim of identity theft, include a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft; and
- Other personal information as required by the applicable credit reporting agency.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
